Mr. Ashcroft,

I simply can't understand why the government continues to spend thousands of dollars to get Bill Gates. This country is supposed to be free enterprise. You work extra hard building a company, make a lot of money and then you are penalized for being greedy. Let the other software companies work as hard as Bill Gates has and they will do just fine. Just because he has instituted smart business practices, he shouldn't be penalized. If these other companies had a better product, they would be in the driver's seats. Tough luck if they aren't as smart as Gates. Stop wasting our money. Thank you.
